President's Message

Welcome to 2012!

First of all, I want to thank Anne Sheriff, who is the curator of the Faith Clayton Family Research Center at Southern Wesleyan University, for speaking at our January meeting.

Anne spoke to us about the upcoming "100 Year Reunion of Upcountry Families". Many local families have lived in the Old Pendleton District (Pickens, Anderson and Oconee areas) for at least 100 years. If you have or had family in that area, it would be worth while to go check it out. Anne said that, for a small fee, that families could buy a table to display info about their family or just come browse for free. The next "100 Year Reunion of Upstate Families" will be held on June 22-23, 2012 at Southern Wesleyan University. Contact claytonroom@swu.edu for further information.

Secondly, I just wanted to say what a pleasure it is to be leading such an enthusiastic group of genealogists. Many of you have done extensive research into your families and many of you are just now beginning that journey.

Several good ideas were discussed at our last meeting and I hope there will be more as we begin to dive in to some projects that have been on your minds for some time. I know some of us less experienced genealogists would like some guidance on how to get past some "road blocks" and how to avoid undocumented paper trails that might lead us astray. I have found out that this is very easy to do, especially working on Acestery.com. Just clicking on a family members name doesn't mean it's fact. Keep checking the paper trail!

Happy hunting and see you at the next meeting on February 2. There will be a board meeting @ 6:00 before the general meeting.

Tad Riddle

QUERIES

"I would like to visit the Gaines Cemetery located near Princeton, SC and take pictures. Does anyone know if this is accessible to the public? Looking at the maps the cemetery appears to be a good piece from the highway. All responses will be appreciated!" Keith Brown bkeith@clemson.edu.

The Generations Project

This month we have our Incoming President Tad Riddle's Generation's Narrative.

My journey into genealogy began right after Andrea and I got married in 1981. We first started with our grandparents.

My grandfather, Benjamin Arthur Bolt was a prominent Greenville attorney. We gradually found some info about him from WWI. As we went, we found more info about his parents. Family members started helping with what they could tell us. Found out that my grandfather's mother was part of the Owings' that founded the Gray Court-Owings town in Laurens County. And I also discovered that a cousin of my grandfather's was on the first USC team that played Clemson in 1896. I have since found many cousins in the area and in Laurens who have given me more information about the Bolt family.

I had always heard that my grandmother's family was from Scotland and lived in a castle, Dirleton. She had also said that George Heriot had been jeweler to King James VI of Scotland. The Heriot family later moved to Edinburgh. By doing this research, I discovered that George Heriot had founded a hospital which later merged with Watt Institution to become the Heriot -Watt University. I also discovered that George Heriot founded a golf course that is now home of the British Open.

The Heriots migrated to Georgetown, South Carolina. They purchased land and started building. They named the plantation Dirleton, after their home in Scotland. The Heriots planted rice-a variety know today as Carolina Gold. This past summer, while we were at Litchfield, Andrea and I took a trip to Georgetown and had a private tour of the former plantation-which is now owned by the DNR. It was really awesome to walk around in a house that your 3rd great-grandparents built and lived in.

Researching the Stark family, who married a Heriot, I found a link to Thomas Rolfe and Pocahontas. I also found another link through the Riddle line.

My Riddle line may not be as interesting as "across the pond", but it is starting to become more interesting and historic in this area.

I have found out that my great-grandfather was a shoe repairman and my 2nd great-grandfather was a railroad conductor, who was killed in a railroad accident in Pickens County in 1900. I also have discovered that in-laws of my grandfather and my grandfather were in the grocery business. Anybody remember Thomas & Howard Wholesalers?

My grandfather was manager of the Brandon Mill Store before he opened his own store in Dunean. I came across a 1941 picture of the Brandon Mill Store and employees and I have gotten names of all but a couple.

Many of the Riddle's were from Laurens and moved to Pickens and Greenville. I also have many Hester relatives in Pickens and Dacusville.

I have also discovered that my father's cousin, Joe Crossland, was a doctor and had an office in West Greenville-just down from Bolt's Drug Store. Dr. Joe delivered me and was our family doctor for many years.
